6th June 2013

On 6th June 2013 HE Jonathan Allen, British Ambassador to Bulgaria, and Mr Bill Drysdale, Chairman of the British Bulgarian Chamber of Commerce (BBCC) held a Reception at Euxinograd Residence, near the Black sea city of Varna. The Reception was part of 'British Weeks in Bulgaria', a series of social, cultural and business events taking place in Sofia, Varna and Plovdiv from 26th May to 11th June 2013 to celebrate the close links between the UK and Bulgaria.

Around 80 representatives of the local government, British companies, prominent members of the Varna region business community and BBCC members attended the Reception, which offered an excellent opportunity for the guests to meet the Embassy's UK Trade & Investment team, as well as understand the advantages of Chamber's membership.

As a result, new friendships and partnerships were forged and local businesses that attended the event expressed their satisfaction with the quality of the event: an excellent platform for establishing contacts with the BBCC, the British Embassy as well as with representatives of the British business in Bulgaria. Guests also had the chance to meet with and talk to RT Hon David Blunkett, who served as Home Secretary in Tony Blair's government.
